INFORMATION

Terms and Conditions

SHIPMENTS AND GUARANTEE

We will ship peonies from Sept. 1st., until the ground freezes. Iris from July 1st., until the ground freezes. It is best to order early as the plants will then have a better chance to become established before winter, and you will be insured of securing the desired varieties.

TRANSPORTATION

Must be paid by the purchaser. All orders are sent by express unless postage accompanies the order. Any surplus will be returned to the remitter. Do not send stamps, send check, draft or money order. No orders filled for less than $1.00.

SUBSTITUTIONS

Are never made unless requested and money will be promptly returned.

Special quantity prices quoted on request.

REFERENCES

Farmers National Bank and State Bank of Remington, Indiana.

I grow over 1200 named varieties of Peonies, and of course cannot list them all, so write me for prices on any variety you may wish that is not listed.

ALL ORDERS

Will be entered and shipped in the order in which they are received.

PRICES

Net cash. Cash with order unless credit rating can be shown or references given.

SIZE OF PEONY PLANTS

Prices quoted are for standard 3 to 5 eye divisions, with well balanced root system. This size is universally accepted as giving the most satisfactory results.

GUARANTEE

All varieties are guaranteed to be true to name and in healthy condition, but should a mistake occur, we will gladly replace same. Peonies and Iris are very hardy plants, and seldom fail the most novice amateur, but we can assume no responsibility after they have passed beyond our control.

Why Plant Peonies?

- PEONIES in beauty, are at least equal to any flower.
- in culture, are the least troublesome and the most dependable.
- as cut flowers, are fragrant, colorful, attract attention, and last for weeks.
- for mass display in the garden create interest throughout the community.
- exceed all other flowers in stability of price,
- increase in growth, and return for the money invested.
- as a gift are fitting and lasting.
- as a hobby, provide recreation and promote happiness and health.
- once the Emperor's flower, are now available to the humblest.

A garden without PEONIES is comparable to a home without pets and children.

PREPARATION OF SOIL FOR PLANTING

Peonies need a rich, heavy soil. When the soil must be "made" the best plan is to dig down fully two feet, deposit a layer of rotted manure and compost a foot thick and then fill in with the finest quality of soil procurable. Plant Peonies about three feet apart in the row, covering the eyes with about two inches of fine dirt, not more, for deeper planting will keep them from blooming and make weak, slow growing plants. Occasional cultivating from May to September will produce extra growth and give profuse bloom the following season. Peonies should have plenty of sunshine and should not be planted too near old trees, shrubbery or house foundations. The location must be one to admit of good, and easy drainage, for if this is not the case the bed may become water-logged in heavy rains. Never plant a Peony where one has been planted before unless all the soil has been removed and replaced with soil that has never grown Peonies, otherwise the plants will remain small and fail to bloom.

For you who are planting Peonies for the first time and do not know the wondrous beauty of the Modern Peony, many, many are the thrills in store for you. The Peony is the grandest of all perennials, with all the delicacy of the rose, only multiplied by a size that overwhelms.

No flower you can mention draws the thousands of visitors to a planting as do Peonies, and there is a reason.

RATING OF PEONIES

The figures before the varieties give the ratings based on 100% and were taken by members of both Peony and Iris societies. This will prove a valuable guide in selecting Peonies. Those without ratings are new and have never been rated.

GROWING PEONIES FROM SEED

Few of the thousands of Peony enthusiasts have ever played the fascinating game of raising Peonies from seed. With very few of our flowers is the production of new varieties accompanied with the same zest, the same demand upon the patience of the experimenter as with Peonies and with none are the returns of pleasure greater.

One's interest in watching the growth increases constantly as the progress of the baby plant is followed, and it is not until the fourth or fifth year after the seed is sown that bloom bearing maturity has been reached. A Peony grown from seed is always a new variety for they do not come true. I have been in the Peony game for over 50 years and have one of the largest collections of high grade Peonies in existence, but no single feature is more absorbingly interesting than the production of new varieties from seed.

I have originated such sterling varieties as Lilian Gumm, Grace Ott, Vera, Golden Dawn, Onahama, W. L. Gumm, Mrs. W. L. Gumm and many others. For the benefit of those who wish to grow from seed I would offer the following suggestions: As soon as ripe the seed should be sown in a rich medium heavy soil, about an inch and a half apart and one inch deep. Cover with burlap or straw to keep the ground moist and some of them should come up the following Spring. By the end of the third year after planting you can lift the plants and give more room for expansion, planting them about a foot apart.

IRIS

Bearded IRISES will grow in almost any location, providing that the plants have reasonably good drainage. If the soil is inclined to be wet, make the bed 8 to 10 inches deep, placing a layer of drainage material on the bottom, then replacing the top soil. Bearded IRISES do not require a rich soil, but succeed best in full sun.

The Beardless Irises, like the Japanese, Siberian, and so on, grow readily in moist places, and are especially useful on the bank of a stream, or surrounding a pool or large pond. IRISES well deserve the foreground and open view. Their contrasting colors present striking displays, they are softly iridescent, mysterious as the opal, hardy as the goldenrod, and no flower is easier to grow.

IRISES are adaptable and desirable for borders, along walks, drives, pools, streams, beds, foundations, terraces, walls, steps, etc. Masses of color are preferable. There should be 10 to 100 plants of a variety in a solid group for general display.

Bearded Irises may safely be planted at any time, although July and August are considered the ideal months. Many people purchase and transplant Bearded Irises, while in bloom, which permits a satisfactory color arrangement?

Beardless Irises are best planted in early spring or late July, August, and September.

Irises are priced for well grown single rhizomes.

In planting, barely cover the rhizome (the fleshy part of the root), but allow the roots to extend deeper into the soil to act as anchors until the new roots are formed. They may be planted from 10 to 15 inches apart, depending upon the effect desired.

By planting various types, including Dwarfs, Early May flowering, Tall Bearded, Siberian, Water Irises and Japanese, the blooming season may be prolonged from Early May until mid-July.

Oriental Poppies

For dazzling barbaric splendor, the great ORIENTAL POPPIES are absolutely unrivaled. They may be used singly or in mass, and in either way give a glow of color to the garden that is not furnished by any other flower. The blooms may be kept for several days as cut flowers if the freshly cut stems are immediately singed at the cut surface, or if the stems are plunged at once into boiling water for a moment or two, and then placed in cold water.

Transplanting should be done in August or early September. At this time the plants are dormant and there is little danger of failure. Plant so the crown will be about two inches below the surface of the ground, and after the ground freezes cover with straw or coarse litter to prevent the plants from heaving. Prices are for field-grown plants.

Hardy Lilies

The hardy lilies bloom from the middle of June until about the first of October. When planted in well drained garden soil, with some sharp sand surrounding, the bulb, the following listed varieties, will bloom to perfection. An ideal location is among your peonies.

Candidum (Madonna Lily) Pure white, very fragrant; blooms in June; should be planted 2 to 3 inches deep during August and early September. Each 35c, 3 for $1.00.

Regale—Very large, white flowers, shading to yellow in the center, outside streaked brown, shading to pink; blooms in July; plant 9 inches deep early spring. Each 40c, 3 for $1.00.

Elegans—June blooming, contains shades of red and orange, about 2 feet tall. Each 30, 3 for 75c.

Tigrinum Splendens (Single Tiger Lily)—Orange red in color; grows 4 to 6 feet tall; blooms in August or September; plant 10 inches deep in November or spring. Each 25c, 5 for $1.00.

Rubrum (Magnificum)—White, flushed pink, heavily spotted with carmine; late August or September; blomer. Each 30c, $3.00 per dozen.

Henryi—Grows 4 to 6 feet tall, 5 to 25 flowers in late August or September; yellow with dark spots. Each 40c, 3 for $1.00.

Superbum (American Turks Cap)—July and August blooming; 3 to 8 feet tall. Each 30c, 3 for 75c.

Canadense—Mixed red and yellow; grows 2 to 5 feet; often as many as 40 flowers. Each 30c, 3 for 75c.

Auratum—The gold banded lily of Japan; grows 4 to 7 feet tall; blooming in July and August. Each 35c, 3 for $1.00.

Lemon Lilies—Yellow and Chocolate back. Each 25c.

French Lilacs—There is no shrub more attractive than French lilacs, and should be more generally planted. I have a large collection in all colors. Plants will bloom when only 2 or 3 feet high. Each $1.00.

The Gumm Marker

Per Dozen . . . $1.50

Per 100 $10.00

THE Gumm Flower marker is the most simple and durable of the many devices made for this purpose. It is constructed of one piece of heavy wire twisted together and having a heavy zinc plate beaded and crimped into place so that it cannot come out, and the name is written on this with an indelible or "china marking crayon". As this plate is exposed on both sides the name is written twice and you can see the name from either end of the row.

A special feature of this device is that the name plate can be bent back to any angle to make the reading of the names always easy.
